Victory Bond Prices do not Affect Small Purchasers

J.P. Bell, manager of the Bank of Hamilton, expressed the hope that all citizens will loyally comply with the regulations made by the finance minister in the best interests of the country as a whole. In speaking of the war bond price regulation, he said:

"I believe that the minister of finance has acted in a perfectly proper manner in agreeing with a committee of bond dealers to lower the prices at which they were being dealt in as being quite out of line with the money market.

"People over here do not realize that rates for bank loans have been steadily increasing all over the world, and that money is very scarce and in great demand. In the United States borrowers are bidding 8½ to 9 per cent for money for few months, secured by first class collateral. The drop in sterling exchange resulted in a steadily increasing return of Canadian securities from their English owners, offered at prices that afforded more attractive yields, but almost the same security as the Victory bonds. It is useless to struggle against natural laws, and the old prices could not be maintained unless the government was prepared to buy back an overwhelming amount of securities they had issued.

"It is unfortunate but true, that too many people subscribed for the last issue of Victory bonds for speculative instead of investment purposes, inspired by the premium at which the old issues were selling, but since that date the money market has experienced a marked change, and in common with speculators in any other line of business, they must not complain. After all, the loss does not really fall on the small holder who bought for a nest egg, or against a rainy day, as he is not compelled to sell, and even if the rainy day has overtaken him within three months of the date of his purchase, he only has to wait until after May 1, when he will get $2.75 interest, and provided the present prices stand, can sell the 1924 maturity at $96.25, and thus realize $99, or lose only $1 on his $100 bond—after all, a trifling amount to have given to help the government."

R. W. BREADNER, Commissioner of Taxation.

Farmers!

Don't delay ordering what machinery or twine you think you may need for 1920. Give me your order now and protect yourself against a raise in price. There has been one advance already, and there may be another. All orders are subject to cancellation. The up-to-the-minute farmer is ordering his binders and twine right now. Come in and see me. I am writing up orders every day.

If You Haven't Got the Cash

Just kindly take note that the I.H.C. fully appreciates the present conditions and is ready to protect the legitimate farmer to the extent of his actual requirements.

People looking for serviceable implements cheap should keep close watch on the second hand exchange.

The Boy Scouts have made friends with the people of Lomond through the medium of a very successful concert held on Friday night. The elocution class of Miss Kerr's gave evidence of diligent application and efficient training. The dancing by Margaret Kennedy and Nancy Maddison gave a spicy variety to the program. The Enchant numbers were a disappointment insofar that the train did not arrive until after the affair was over. Towers was kind enough to open out his pipes and treat the dancers to a few ski-r-r-rs of the Highlands. The boys were left to run things pretty much for themselves and they showed most admirably. The stage was tastily arranged and everything went along smoothly. Mr. Maddison, scoutmaster, gave a brief outline of what it was aimed to accomplish by the Boy Scout idea, and also gave a short example of the drill now being taught the boys. The proceeds amounted to about a hundred dollars.

I. O. O. F. NOTES

Bro. William M. Armstrong of Lomond Lodge, No. 127, P.G., and P. C. P. of Vulcan Encampment, No. 14, and Past Grand Guardian of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, has been appointed by the Grand Master as D.D.G.M. for District No. 8, which comprises Barons Lodge, No. 60, Blackie Lodge, No. 106, Vulcan Lodge, No. 91, Carmangay Lodge, No. 51, and Lomond Lodge, No. 127. This district idea is a new innovation, the province being now divided into sixteen districts, instead of each lodge being given a district deputy as in former years.

Sister Belle Adams, P.N.U. of Primrose Lodge No. 61, Lomond, has received her appointment as District President.

Sister Helen Williamson, P.N.G. and Past D.D.P. of Primrose Lodge, No. 61, is now Grand Marshall of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta.

Bro. A. O. Brown, P.C.P. of Vulcan Encampment, No. 14, has been appointed D.D.G.P. for Vulcan Encampment.

The following from Vulcan Encampment received the Militant Cantons degree, the highest degree in Odd Fellowship, at Calgary Lodge, No. 2, at the time of the Grand Lodge sittings: A. R. Hanna, W. M. Armstrong, S. E. Armstrong, Dr. A. O. Brown and D. L. Doane.

RAE L. KING, PROP

LOMOND, ALBERTA, MAR. 19, 1920

St. Patrick's Day was celebrated and concluded in the village of Lomond by hearing of the case of alleged theft of oats by Jas. Mapson under information laid by R. L. King. W. A. McDonald of Calgary appeared in the interests of the accused, while Constable Maddison conducted the prosecution. W. H. Smith and Jos. Rodgers, J. Ps., sat for the hearing, the information being arranged to bring the case within their complete jurisdiction. The public's interest and curiosity was largely displayed, the capacity of the I. O. O. F. Hall being taxed to accommodate the crowd, which stayed until the case was closed at around 2 a.m. The prosecution was based on the evidence of Andy Wogsberg who stated that while in the course of draying the "troublesome" oats Mapson had retained around ten bushels of grain in the tank when stopping for noon, placing same in the loft of the stable. Accused denied this amount but admitted the quantity to be around a bushel and a half, claiming this to be a customary privilege allowed by the elevator managers. This point was admitted by Davies and Moir. Geo. Mullen, Jos. Smith and Mr. Pillar gave evidence for the defence to the effect that there was extraordinary waste at the car when unloading. A good deal of time was taken up by the identification of grades and samples, but accused brought up no evidence to show that grain in his possession had been purchased through regular channels. The J. Ps. adjourned the court for a few minutes to review the evidence and then gave accused an acquittal, stating that they considered his actions more the result of habit than from an intention to steal. A warning was also given as to future conduct.

Duke Armstrong was summoned under the mischievous animals act for allowing a bay mare to run at large and become a nuisance. The case was dismissed with a warning to keep the horse up. This case took up a lot of time and gave the crowd a chance to amuse itself. W. A. Macdonald acted for the defense in this case as well.

If the operations of the Lomond Board of Trade come to anything and the good intentions of the Alberta Government ever materialize the Lomond telephone exchange will have a rural subscribers' of more than two hundred. Telephone business was practically the only matter brought up on Thursday night, and since the department had asked for information and provided township maps an organization was effected to have this information compiled as soon as possible.

Now that the unruly elements in base ball have quieted down, it is time to get busy and organize for 1920.

It would be hard for mere man to adequately construct phrasing that would do justice to any millinery opening and particularly to the one held at Salter's store on Saturday. It was enjoyed and appreciated by all the ladies who could possibly get there. We chanced to peek in just at the closing and discovered the show tables sold to emptiness and Tommy eating ice cream. We sent a deputy to get a line on the bonnets and the first one he fell for was one of those transparent picture hats in Prince of Wales blue with just enough color in the trimming to emphasize the coming of spring. There was another model in his notes under the caption of McKinnon's Special in Pekin blue and a dainty tam o'shanter model in dust grey. There were numerous treschie (very smart) examples in the tailored and sailor classes. The millinery this year features strongly the new American Rose and American Beauty Shades, the trimmings as a rule are very moderate in quantity but quite startling as to color. Along with the millinery was the special display of new spring blouses with a range that left nothing to be desired. You could not but notice some charming ones in dove grey with pipings of royal purple, and others in chintilles grey and coral. An extensive showing of new voiles and georgette crepes in very attractive colors and combinations was no small feature of the day.

Just at a time when everyone confidently looked forward to the coming of spring in reality and truth, a sudden twist in the weather on Sunday, the 14th., brought one of the worst blizzards we had ever seen. For intensity it exceeded the one of May 2nd. last year. Since then the tendency has been towards a more moderate temperature, but we are not at all convinced that the final break has come.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

There is no foundation whatever for the widely published reports that the International Harvester Company has employed a "German poison gas inventor" named Robert Beyer.

The Company's officials have investigated the matter and have ascertained that a man of that name recently came to the United States from Switzerland and is said to have brought with him some metallurgical and other inventions in which he is seeking to interest American manufacturers. These inventions are not applicable to the agricultural implement industry and are of no interest whatever to the Harvester Company. Mr. Beyer has absolutely no connection with the Company's business.

Lomond Branch, M. J. Stanley, Manager

THE EDITOR'S NOTES

It is hard to conceive of an institution with the reputation for efficiency like that of the C.P.R. being content to operate even a branch line service such as this with such a disregard to schedule. The train arrivals at Lomond for several months have been anywhere from two to seven hours late. Frequently it is not even possible to distribute the mail until the next day and we might as well live in Central Africa as far as business communications are concerned. The people have been very patient since the crop failures came upon them, but there is a time when virtue ceases. Repeated enquiries from passengers places the main cause on the zealous desire of the crews to draw a few dollars in overtime pay. We do not presume to be railway operatives, but perhaps those who are in authority do not know all that is going on or just what the public thinks.

For a week or two we undertook to discuss religion and like some of the other topics previously under discussion in these columns a great number of our readers considered us very presumptuous. Our opinions are but our own opinions and you can take them for what they are worth to you. It is our privilege to draw our own conclusions and if we consider it to the best interests of the public to give them our ideas to think over the public must be so burdened. As far as religion is concerned, Lomond now has an orthodox representative and we advise you all to get behind him during the week and in front of him on Sunday evenings, and any such heresy as The Press might spread will not bother you much.

The "hardy annual" town water supply problem is again confronting the village council. As the matter now stands, unless the householder has a cistern or large tank he is apt to be shy of water about one day a week at the best. It is a very unfortunate situation for the town, but should be a paying proposition to a man with a good well.

Owing to illness we were unable to hear the U.F.A. speakers but we understand that as a result of their visit the Lomond organization has experienced a revival. A regular meeting will be held in the municipal office on Saturday, the 20th., when W. H. Smith will elucidate the intricacies of proportional representation.

Pa Dobson was in telling us about the terrible condition of the north road, but since we have had occasion to personally observe the state of affairs we have concluded that either he was trying to shield some responsible party or that his extreme modesty prevented him from giving adequate expression. The washouts on the grade besides being a source of danger are an aggravation to the ratepayers, particularly when within a few rods lie a pile of culverts which were bought specifically for such conditions. It is time government and municipal business was conducted in such a manner that the payer is not assessed more than three or four times for the same thing.
